

Consultant Training Program by NAWA

Curriculum Overview and Program Syllabus

Summer 2025

Course Description:

The Consulting Training Program by NAWA is a 12-day-long program in Jeddah, designed to introduce students to the world of consulting. The program aims to equip participants with foundational skills of the consulting industry, common case practices, and the professional awareness needed to explore this career path.

This program is open to university students in Jeddah from any academic background and is focused purely on practical education, awareness and exposure to opportunities.

To complete the program, students are expected to submit an individual case assignment, participate in a group case activity and presentation, and attend at least two simulated case interview workshops. A tentative timeline for these components is provided in the schedule section.
